The Man...

Carl Hiebert is truly an entrepreneur of life. Confined to a wheelchair since 1981, he astounded the world by flying his open cockpit ultra-light aircraft 5,000 miles across Canada. When he landed at Expo'86 in Vancouver, he achieved what many people said was impossible - transforming an agonizing obstacle into an inspirational achievement. In the process of writing aviation history, Carl Hiebert has demonstrated that even when you can't walk, you can fly.

The Journey...

Carl is a dynamic and enthusiastic speaker who motivates by example. From association dinners to national sales conferences, from groups of 20 to 1,000 across Canada, United States and England, Carl has consistently delighted over 500 audiences with his uplifting presentation.

Through a thrilling and humorous travelogue slide show of his epic flight, Carl will show you:

- How attitude will 'make you or break you'

- The importance of reaching past your imagined boundaries
- How risk - taking is vital to your growth

The Story...

Carl's story is more than just a flight across Canada.

It is a journey of personal discovery which will take you beyond the ordinary.

It will help unlock the extraordinary in you!
